

CORPUS CHRISTI SCHOOL

WEEKLY UPDATE WEEKLY UPDATE - Rev. 1

JANUARY 21, 2011

Financial Assistance

CCS will be awarding financial assistance for the spring tuition. If you would like to apply for this round of financial aid, please contact the school for a packet. Awards will be made in early February.

SchoolReach

We'll we've been tested the past two weeks with regards to snowfall, both with a school closing and a late start. IF YOU DID NOT RECEIVE A SCHOOLREACH PHONE CALL ANNOUNCING THE SCHOOL CLOSING OR DELAYED OPENING, please contact the school with the phone number that should be entered into the system. I did hear from several parents, already, and those changes have been made.

More High School Scholarships

Padua has announced that the following three students from CCS received scholarships for the 2011 school year: Kathleen Scopis, Sarah Wiley, and Ashley Lawrence.

National Geographic Geography Bee

Geography Bee participants were: Anna Cleary and Lance Ralsten - 4th grade; Jack Connolly and Joseph Hackman - 5th grade; Nolan Constantine and Joseph Mullen - 6th grade; Seth Keen and Alicia Diaz - 7th grade; Dana Caracci and Kathryn Fish - 8th grade. The Geography Bee was held on Wednesday afternoon to determine the CCSj school champion. Congratulations to Joseph Hackman, of 5B. Joe will represent Corpus Christi at the state meet at the University of Delaware in March

Lego League

The following students will be participating in the state-wide Lego League championship on Saturday at the University of Delaware: Lauren Kaminski, Dillon Kennedy, John Zdziech, Joseph Hackman, Joseph Amato, Brice Malusa, Eric Hendrison, Erick Wujick, Connor Kennedy, Arudra Baradwaj, and Ryan Senall. The CCS team is presenting their ideas regarding a cure for Multiple Sclerosis, and will be running a programmed Lego robot through a maze.

Fire Essay Contest

Marc Pala brought home the first place trophy for his fire safety essay, awarded by the Talleyville Fire Company.
